03 Times Consecutively

Qualified SSB

It was a very interesting journey of my life. My greatest learning out of all these three attempts was that if you somehow know that you have it in you, and if it is true, you will never get discourage. You just need to maintain that level of confidence in yourself throughout. So, never give up. Believe in yourself. Keep a cool mind. No matter how much you get rejected, don't let that small flame in your heart get extinguish.
